

Business Opinion Omnibus

Your monthly hotline to senior decision-makers

The Business Opinion Omnibus is an easily accessible way of learning about companies' operations, concerns and plans for the future.

BVA BDRC's Business Opinion Omnibus is the ideal way to survey a validated sample of senior financial decision-makers without compromising on quality.

Using a carefully selected business panel, we speak to business owners and senior financial decision-makers. You hear only from the people who matter and can rely on the results you receive.

The Omnibus allows you to place one-off questions, or choose to track a topic over time.

Our regular clients include high street banks, PR agencies and public sector organisations, who turn to the Business Opinion Omnibus for high quality dependable insight.

Key benefits

Flexible

As many or as few questions as you like, with no minimum threshold

Robust

A nationally representative sample of businesses and stringent design controls mean the results stand-up to scrutiny

Cost effective

Pay per question, without the constraints of any entry fees

Who we speak to

Businesses with a minimum annual turnover of £250,000

Wide spread of business sizes (turnover and number of employees)

Robust sub-samples in four main sectors (Manufacturing, Construction, Retail, Services)

Minimum of 100 respondents in key UK standard regions (allowing for robust sub-sampling)

How it works

Every month, 1,200 senior financial business decision makers are surveyed online. We charge on a per question basis, starting at just £500 per question, including the full support of our Omnibus team to ensure that your objectives are met in the most effective way. Unlike many other omnibus services, we don't charge an entry fee or stipulate a minimum number of questions. Final data is weighted to be representative of the UK business market.
